Newsflash: To Restrict the Employer for filling monthly Contribution after 42 days of the end of contribution period

THE POWER OF BEING UNDERSTOOD

The Employee State Insurance Corporation has amended certain rules under Rule-26 of ESIC (General) Regulation, 1950. This rule has been issued by the Employee State Insurance Corporation on 19th November 2019 vide notification number – P-11/12/Misc./SST Misuse/2019-Rev.II.

ESIC online portal provides only 42 days from the last date of contribution period (i.e. 15th of every month) for submission of return/challan or revised return/challan if needed. After expiry of 42 days, Employer will not be able to change in submitted return/challan.

This rule shall take effect from the end of the contribution period for the month of 09/2019 onwards and the employer will not be allowed to create challan or pay the amount for any month beyond the contribution period after end of 42 days of the current contribution period.

If any employer wants to add any information to the already submitted return/challan of earlier period, then he may be allowed to do so after verification and approval of concerned RO/SRO and this must be shown as Supplementary return/challan in the system.
